Hello Gentlemen,

I see that the attachments to my last were posted but not my responses or answers. As I'm unsure of how this process typically goes, so I wanted to be sure that the explanation was also received and responses forthcoming.

Regarding the warranty statement of my competitor (KSB), my intent was only to highlight the actual substance within the warranty to be clear what your expectation is and what I am proposing to directly match meets with those expectations. The "example scenario" I included was solely to illustrate how these types of warranties can be interpreted, again, to be sure that what I'm proposing to match my competitor (KSB) is in line with your expectations.

I hope this finds you well.

Regards,

Tony Moraska
